CASUALTIES IN TRUCK SMASH

A LYME Regis man is in a critical condition in hospital after being struck by a Royal Mail truck and thrown through the reception area of the Mariners Hotel.

As a result of his injuries, the man, named locally as Alex Quan-Yat-Koon, had to have a leg amputated at the scene and was rushed to the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital where surgeons battled throughout the weekend to save his life.

Dozens of emergency services personnel were called to Silver Street as the drama unfolded on Friday morning. Air ambulance crews from Devon and Dorset attended along with police, fire crews, paramedics and coastguard rescue teams.

The 17th Century hotel was declared structurally unsound following the accident and was closed over the weekend.

Photographer on the verge of capturing the big time

AN east Devon photographer is on the verge of hitting the big time and has been exhibiting her work at venues across the country.

Sarah Jackson, of Waggs Plot, near Axminster, graduated from Plymouth University with a 2:1 in design photography in June.

Since graduating Sarah has exhibited at venues in London and her work is currently on display at Plymouth Arts Centre and the Nottingham Crocus Gallery.

Speaking to Pulman's View she said: "I have always been kind of an arty person and I like a lot of mixed media. I guess I try and get my creativity across through my photographs.

"My collection is a lot of different types of work. There is stuff that people can buy and put on their walls at home and then I do art based things like CD covers, live band and music pictures and I have also done a cover for a novel called Convict Grade."

Sarah is currently working with Bunker Studios in Honiton, producing cover art for a blues album, and in the future Sarah says she would like to carry on exhibiting her work.

"I want to do lots of freelance work and work on commission, that is what I enjoy. And I want to do lots more exhibitions as well.

◆ SARAH Jackson has been exhibiting her photography at venues across the UK

"Luckily, I have been picked up by an agency who represents the top graduate talents. There are 35 of us on the list and this list then gets sent out to all sorts of people and companies so hopefully I can pick up some more work through that," she said.

The exhibition at Plymouth Arts Centre is called Cameras in the Community and runs until December.

◆ CHILDREN and teachers from Dalwood Primary School in Victorian dress

Taste of Victorian life for kids on 19th Century visit

VICTORIAN life was experienced by the children and staff of Dalwood Primary School during a trip to Morwellham Quay in Tavistock on Friday, October 1st.

Morwellham Quay's motto is "keeping the past alive for everyone to enjoy" and it features a restored 19th Century village, docks and quays with a restored ship, a copper mine, a Victorian farm and a nature reserve.

The Dalwood children have studied Victorian Britain and how children lived during that time.

A school spokesperson said: "Morwellham's Past Lives day gave the children the chance to enact the daily lives of Victorian children.

"Activities included the assayer's home and laboratory, which looked at the work of the assayer and life in a middle class household — including the lives of domestic servants."

The children experienced a very traditional school teacher in the village school, and the Dalwood youngsters also got a taste of child labour through the recreation of rock breaking and sorting in the copper mine.

Library's free family history workshop

AXMINSTER Library is to stage a free family history workshop on Wednesday, October 20th from 10am-12noon.

Staff will be on hand to help people use online resources to trace their family tree.

A Devon County Council spokesperson said: "So whether you think you're related to royalty or have an infamous past, Axminster Library can help you find it."

To book a place, contact the library on 01297 32693.

Fire damage to harvester

FIREFIGHTERS from Axminster had to summon colleagues from Chard when dealing with a forage harvester on fire at Challenger Cross, Membury.

The alarm was raised at 8.55pm on Wednesday, October 13th, and one appliance from Axminster was dispatched.

A fire and rescue service spokesperson said: "On their arrival the forager was well alight in a field. "They immediately set to work using a hosereel, jet and compressed air foam to fight the fire.

"They called for more resources to assist with water. A further two appliances from Chard were dispatched.

"Ninety per cent of the forage harvester was damaged by fire, the crews also used four breathing apparatus."

Toddler stuck

A TWO-YEAR-OLD girl had to be released from a car parked in Axminster on Monday, October 11th.

The incident took place at Morton Way just after 1.30pm.

A fire crew from Axminster was called to the scene and used small tools to release the youngster from the car and reunite her with her mother.

Ducks' profit

A DUCK race organised by the parents', teachers' and friends' association (PTFA) of Dalwood Primary School raised £320 for school funds.

The annual event was staged at the end of September and a PTFA spokesperson said: "Thanks to everyone for coming along and supporting this community event."

Bogus calls

POLICE have issued a warning about bogus phone callers claiming to be solving a problem.

Police said that people in east Devon have received phone calls that are from a man purporting to be from Microsoft, saying there is a problem and a need to log on to the person's computer to solve it.

A police spokesperson said: "Do not under any circumstances have anything to do with this.

"It could result in him clogging up your computer and charging a fee to sort it out or gaining access to your online bank accounts."

Police would like to hear from anyone who may have information about the caller on 08452 777 444.

Tools taken

FOUR power tools were taken during the burglary of a property in the Tytherleigh area.

Police say that the window of an outbuilding was smashed overnight between Tuesday, October 12th and the following day.

A blue Partner petrol-driven chainsaw, a red Echo hedge trimmer plus A Stihl hedge trimmer and a hedge cutter of the same brand were taken. Anyone with information is asked to call 08452 777 444 and ask for Axminster police.

The crime reference is KA/10/568.

Drink charge

A 24-YEAR-OLD woman has been charged with drink-driving after an accident on the A35 at Axminster on Friday, October 15th.

Police were called to the scene at about 11pm and also arrested the woman on suspicion of possessing a Class B drug after a search of the vehicle. The woman is not from the local area.

Bookies take punter's £13k win on the nose

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@indienews.co.uk

FIVE races at York proved extremely enriching for an Axminster man who took more than £13,000 off his local betting shop.

The man wishes to remain anonymous but the owner of TS Racing in Axminster, Tony Flanagan, is happy to talk about his big loss.

The punter, described as "a local elderly gentleman", managed to pick the winner in each of five races at York on Saturday, October 9th.

His £3.10 stake proved to be a very good investment as it grew into £13,551.89 in only a few hours.

It is understood the man watched the races at home on television, but Mr Flanagan was in his betting shop as the drama unfolded.

When asked if he was aware of what was going on, Mr Flanagan said: "I was aware with two races to go that there was a potential big loss.

"I then watched the last race with big interest. I took it on the chin. It is a nice win for a nice man.

"He's not in the best of health at the moment and I wish him good luck and hope he enjoys his win."

TS Racing manager Simon Holway added: "I'm very pleased for the gentleman."

Mr Flanagan opened up shop in Axminster in 2008 and has paid out a big win each year.

In addition to this month's big payout, a punter scooped £14,280 in late 2008 and another punter won £12,790 in spring last year.

◆ BOOKIES Tony Flanagan and Simon Holway, who paid out more than £13,000

"The figures stick in your mind.

"It is painful in a way but shows these things are possible," Mr Flanagan said.

The five horses who triumphed for the Axminster man were: Namibian at 8/1 in the 1.45, Gunner Lundley at 8/1 in the 2.15, Act of Kalanisi at 9/1 in the 2.45, Katla at 5/1 in the 3.20 and Fathsta at 14/1 in the 3.55.

Councillors to decide on Cedars plan

DISTRICT councillors will today (October 19th) decide if they should wait for a court ruling or initiate enforcement action in Honiton.

The issue is year-round occupation of chalets at The Cedars, Otter Valley Park, and has been going on for a number of years.

The problem is that year-round occupation is in breach of planning rules as the chalets are for holiday accommodation only.

Enforcement notices were issued to the chalet owners concerned by East Devon District Council (EDDC), but it was decided to put enforcement action on hold because of a civil court case.

A number of chalet owners are seeking compensation from the owners of Otter Valley Park.

If their action is successful, the compensation pay-outs would help them to find alternative accommodation.

But the case at Bristol Crown Court is far from finished.

In a letter to EDDC, the solicitor representing the chalet owners wrote: "I can confirm that this matter did go to trial.

"But unfortunately the large volume of evidence meant that the court was simply not able to conclude in the time listed.

"It has therefore gone part heard and will go back to court in December for a further week.

"We are effectively in limbo until that time as we will not have any decision from the court until at least December now."

As a result, members of EDDC's Development Management Committee must decide if enforcement action should be initiated or if a further period of grace is acceptable.

The two options put to committee members are:

- That authorisation be granted to begin prosecution proceedings against those residents of The Cedars who are deemed to be in breach of their respective notices;
- The previous resolution is repeated with a decision delayed and a further report is brought back to committee in 12 months' time or immediately after the conclusion of the civil case, whichever is the sooner.

Lucky escape for victim of letterbox rocket prank

POLICE say it was pure luck that more damage was not caused by two fireworks taped together and put through the door of an Axminster house.

Police were called to a house in Millwey Rise at about 9am on Sunday, October 17th.

Two rockets had been taped together and exploded in the house.

The detonation left scorch marks in the property but there were no physical injuries to the occupant reported.

Inquiries are ongoing and police have issued a witness appeal.

Anyone with information is asked to call 08452 777 444 and ask for Axminster police.

The crime reference is KA/10/577.

SERIOUS INJURIES

Mail truck hits pick-up then smashes into hotel reception

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@hindlenews.co.uk

A LYME Regis man lost part of a leg and was fighting for his life in hospital over the weekend after being struck by a Royal Mail truck.

The man, named locally as Alex Quan-Yat-Koon, was walking past the Mariners Hotel on Silver Street on Friday morning when he was hit by the runaway truck.

In all, two people have been left with serious injuries and one person was treated at the scene following the incident which took place just before 10am.

Dozens of emergency service personnel were called to the accident.

According to police reports, Mr Quan-Yat-Koon was struck by the truck which then hit a Mitsubishi pick-up type vehicle and ended up crashing through the reception area of the hotel.

Air ambulance crews from Devon and Dorset were also in attendance as the pedestrian and Royal Mail driver were rushed to hospitals in Exeter and Dorchester.

The truck driver suffered serious back injuries. Coastguard rescue teams were also in attendance.

Pulman's View attended the scene and spoke to some of the officers investigating.

Tony Burden, scene manager for Dorset Police, said: "We got the call at 9.53am. The Royal Mail truck lost control and hit a pedestrian on the road and collided with another vehicle and the Mariners Hotel.

"The pedestrian and driver (of the Royal Mail truck) are seriously injured. Two members of staff from the hotel were also injured in the incident."

Emily Cheeseman, of Dorset Fire and Rescue Service, said: "A Royal Mail truck hit the front of the Mariners Hotel. Two people were rescued from inside the hotel. One of the people is seriously injured and was taken to the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital via air ambulance.

"We removed the driver from the Royal Mail truck and he was taken to Dorset County Hospital, Dorchester, via air ambulance, with serious injuries. The Mariners Hotel is structurally unsound and West Dorset District Council have been on scene."

A spokesman for Dorset police added: "Police received a call from a man on a mobile reporting a serious injury collision in Silver Street, Lyme Regis.

◆ THE scene of the accident on Friday

"It is believed a red DAF lorry collided with a Mitsubishi car and a pedestrian and subsequently collided with the Mariners Hotel.

"Significant structural damage has been caused to the building and the area has been cordoned off by police.

"Two people, the male lorry driver from Bournemouth and a male pedestrian from Lyme Regis, have suffered serious injuries.

"The lorry driver was airlifted to Dorset County Hospital and the pedestrian was airlifted to Exeter.

"The driver of the Mitsubishi was shocked but not injured.

"Woodmead Road, Uplyme Road, Pound Road and Silver Street were closed by police."

The hotel has been closed over the weekend as district council planning officers carry out a full assessment.

Reason to be cheery as village hall opens

By ANDERS LARSSON
anders@findlenews.co.uk

RESIDENTS of Umborne had reason to celebrate when the new community hall was opened last Saturday.

Two residents — Lillian Bird and Dorothy Blackmore — with strong connections to the Umborne Valley community declared the hall open on October 16th.

Mrs Blackmore for example, has connections to members of the Women's Institute who put the hall in place in 1948.

Rob Summers, chairman of the trustees, said the new hall represents the true force of a community that put its mind to achieving something good for its future.

It has taken more than a decade for the new hall to come to fruition, and the journey has been described as "a tale of big ambition, perseverance and stoic patience" by those involved.

Mr Summers said: "Several significant legacies have been generously gifted over this time, whilst many other people gave their time and money over the years.

"Whether serving as a trustee, organising and running events, cooking hundreds of meals, baking thousands of cakes, planning quizzes, running raffles, marshalling at running races or washing and tidying up events; everyone has done their bit for the new hall.

"It truly has been built on community effort."

It began more than 14 years ago, when the then chairman, Vincent Bowles, mooted the idea of replacing the old hall, a rather damp and unstable Second World War Quonset hut, with something a bit more suitable.

Several small grants were secured and a wide variety of fundraisers were staged.

In September 2009, the bank account boasted £41,000 and a major boost came the same month when an application to the Community Council of Devon resulted in a £27,000 grant.

This grant made the prospect of building work suddenly within reach and more grants — including £12,000 from East Devon AONB Sustainable Development Fund — followed.

At the beginning of 2010, the trustees were tantalisingly close to having enough money for work to start. However, being a little short, they called upon the community for a final push.

The Umborne Bond scheme — repayable loans from the community that will benefit from an annual prize fund — was launched and has raised more than £13,000.

February 26th this year saw the last event in the old hall, and days later the diggers moved in.

The trustees were delighted when a team of enthusiasts from South West Airfields Heritage Trust, based in Dukeswell, offered to dismantle the old hall.

It is hoped they will be able to use it at the aerodrome, where it came from in 1948, as a museum for east Devon's wartime heritage.

Work parties of local residents were organised to help on site and Lillian Bird kindly donated a piece of land to build a bigger car park.

Mr Summers said: "After all these years of sitting in a cold hut planning and dreaming of what might be, we eventually got there.

"Thank you to everyone who has contributed in whatever way they could, over the years.

"I personally have many good memories of times in the old hall, and am looking forward to making many, many more in our new hall — they certainly will be warmer and drier."

Trustee Sue Gush added: "We are now ready to open our wonderful new hall, a beautiful wooden building nestling in the Umborne valley in the heart of east Devon's outstanding countryside.

"Well nearly — there's always one or two bits left to do — but after so many years we would be at a loss if it was all finished.

"It really is the centrepiece of our community that we — and all those that put so much effort into this over the years — were hoping for."

◆ A RARE Solitary Sandpiper has caused a stir amongst twitchers at Black Hole Marsh near Colyford Common Below, hundreds of bird watchers have descended on the area to try and catch a glimpse of the Solitary Sandpiper

Unexpected rare bird's landing calls in twitchers

By BEN MIDDLETON
ben@findlenews.co.uk

HUNDREDS of 'twitchers' have descended on an east Devon nature reserve to try and catch a glimpse of a rare bird.

A Solitary Sandpiper has been spotted at Black Hole Marsh, south of Colyford Common.

The sighting has caused a stir amongst bird watchers with some travelling hundreds of miles to catch sight of the special visitor.

At this time of year the Solitary Sandpiper should be half way on its annual migration between Canada and Central America. However, the bird has been blown off course and has ended up in Colyford.

Many of the birdwatchers who made their way to east Devon heard about the Solitary Sandpiper via a pager system and over the internet.

Geoff Tilbury travelled more than 130 miles from his home in Worthing, West Sussex, to Black Hole Marsh.

He said: "I came down purely to see the Solitary Sandpiper. I like to see rare birds and this is the 386th rare bird that I have seen. I spend a lot of time bird watching and travel all over the south coast."

"This is the first time I have seen the Sandpiper and it is brilliant."

Roger Bedley, of Gloucestershire, said: "Over the weekend there was a mega-alert over the pager system. That meant that there were eight rare birds at various sites across the UK. I have travelled the world looking at birds and this is the first time I have seen the Solitary Sandpiper in the UK."

Graham Coombes, of Bridgwater, Somerset, added: "I haven't seen this bird before so it is a first for me, it is fantastic. It is another bird to tick off the list. I go all around the UK birding and it is nice to have something like this (Black Hole Marsh) virtually on our doorstep."

A spokesman for East Devon District Council (EDDC), which runs Black Hole Marsh, said: "It is good fortune for both the bird and birdwatchers that the Sandpiper arrived on the Axe Wetlands because, not only has the lagoon got a vast amount of food for this hungry traveller, but it also boasts a brand new hide which is perfect for watching him from."

"Although we don't know how long the Sandpiper is going to stay around, hopefully it will feed up and be in good condition for its epic journey home. Anyone wanting to visit Black Hole Marsh should park at Colyford Memorial Hall and walk the short distance to Colyford Common Local Nature Reserve, from where a path leads to Black Hole Marsh."

The spokesman added that more than 300 birdwatchers had travelled to the area in an attempt to spot the Solitary Sandpiper.

Graham Brown, EDDC portfolio holder for the environment, added: "EDDC's local nature reserves are home to a great variety of birds and wildlife. To have such a rare and exciting visitor is just reward for all the time and effort put in by the council's countryside team who maintain these wonderful habitats for both the birds and visitors to enjoy."

Experts believe this is the first recorded sighting of a Solitary Sandpiper in Devon and only the 33rd sighting in Britain.

Supermarket staff play doctors and nurses in charity fundraiser

TESCO customers could be forgiven for thinking that the Axminster store had branched in to the supply of healthcare services.

Anything from emergency response and surgery to general practice seemed available as staff dressed up on Friday, October 8th.

But the initiative was a one-off for charity.

Tesco's charity of the year is Clic Sargent, and staff members dressed up as doctors, nurses, paramedics and so on as part of an in-store collection.

The fundraising continued with a charity football match between a Tesco team and a police side at Sector Lane, Axminster, on Sunday, October 17th.

Kick-off was at 3.30pm and side attractions included a bar, a tombola and a barbecue.

Guard of honour for 'farming' newlyweds

◆ FORMER young farmers' club chairmen David Lawrence and Victoria Thomas, who were married at Shute church

VICTORIA Anne Thomas, daughter of Chris and Mary, of Shute, and David Richard Lawrence, son of Richard and Sally, of Awliscombe, were married at St Michael's Church in Shute.

The wedding took place on Saturday, September 4th and Victoria, a former Axminster Young Farmers' Club chairman, and Dave, a former Honiton Young Farmers' Club chairman, left the church after the ceremony to a guard of honour by young farmer friends.

After photos in front of the Shute Gatehouse the bride and groom were joined by around 100 friends and family for a marquee reception at the bride's parents' house.

The bride had four bridesmaids — Jacqui Hammett, Georgina Day, Laura Shillam, Naomi Lawrence — and Madeline Hammett was flower girl.

The groom was supported throughout the day by his best man, Christopher Bailly.

After the reception the bride and groom travelled to Kenya for a two-week honeymoon and have since returned to Knightstone Farm, Ottery, to continue farming their dairy herd.

Local fame thanks to chef Hugh

WHEN people ask me where I work, I've always told them Axminster in Devon, and when they look blank, I have always said: "Where the carpets come from."

This is usually greeted with an expression of recognition and interest. However, now I have another one.

"Where River Cottage is." Well, the canteen at least and the headquarters is only up the road on the outskirts of the market town.

It is another claim to fame for this small part of the world and, although celebrity chef Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall took a bit of stick when he first brought his film crew and cameras to the town, I think it is fair to say it has fully paid off for Axminster and the east Devon and south Somerset areas.

I can safely say that I used to drive through the town on a Saturday afternoon BH (Before Hugh) and the place was as dead as a door nail. Such a crying shame for a lovely little town with much to offer in the way of quirky little shops, two supermarkets to choose from, a lovely church, a wealth of history just to name a few.

Now, when I drive or wander through on a Saturday afternoon it is not that desolate town with empty streets anymore. Don't get me wrong, it isn't suddenly packed to the rafters with shoppers but there is definitely a dramatic change — and the incomers are all in the River Cottage Canteen and shop.

And, of course, once they have parked up and are ambling through the pretty streets, these visitors amble into other shops too, spreading the business and improving the economy.

When HFW televised the first Axminster-based series, focussing on chicken, there was much hoo-ha over a certain phrase used and the way parts of Axminster were subsequently portrayed in some people's opinions.

The Pulman's View letters pages were filled for weeks with comments from disgruntled residents but I think that is behind us now.

And the latest HFW series, River Cottage Every Day, seems to be making a better impact. It is currently running on Channel 4 at 8pm on Thursdays and there is much feasting upon our local area.

HFW is always a big fan of Bridport market, which he frequents in many of his programmes and Lyme Bay has had its fair share of publicity.

In last week's episode, the celebrity chef was concentrating on fruit — how we get it, prepare or cook it and eat it.

Dropping in on what he called 'Fruit Street', he knocked on a few doors in Axminster's Loretto Road, meeting some local residents then paid a visit to Axminster Primary School to give out fruit lollies.

Not only putting the town on the map, again, the episode also featured some familiar Axminster faces. Pulman's View staff member Lucy Stead's daughter, Beth, caught my eye as well as a family friend of mine, Debbie Fletcher, who was caught on camera munching enthusiastically at the Loretto Road fruit street party.

Axminster Town Football Club also got in on the action as one of the residents sported a Tigers T-shirt for the camera crew.

So, say what you will, Mr Fearnley-Whittingstall has embraced the community and is greatly improving economy and publicity to our deserved area.

Now all we need is a good plug for the town's oldest newspaper group next series.

Open day for festive fillers

By BEN MIDDLETON

AN east Devon business is set to hold an open weekend to showcase some of its latest products.

Corrymoor Farm, near Stockland, will be holding its open weekend on Saturday, November 6th, and Sunday, November 7th. The farm produces mohair socks.

A spokesman for the farm said: "This is a unique opportunity to do some early Christmas shopping and to come and see the angora goats that produce Corrymoor's world beating mohair socks.

"There will also be the chance to do your bit for charity both at home and abroad. Corrymoor Socks will be raising funds for the international disaster relief charity Shelterbox. It has already been supporting other charities through a green scheme to reduce waste.

"For every sock order that does not require packaging, Corrymoor Socks donates 10p to charity.

"Closer to home the open weekend is part of a fundraising venture for Stockland Village Hall. So far the farm open weekends have raised more than £5,000 for the village hall."

During the weekend farm tours will be available at 11.30am each day. Craft stalls featuring a range of local producers will also be available. Refreshments and lunches can be provided.

The open weekend begins at 10am and ends at 4pm on both days, the event will be signposted from the nearby A30.

For further information about Corrymoor Socks and its products, visit the website at www.corrymoor.com.

Don't insult intelligence of informed

EDITOR — To councillors Knight and Jones — please don't insult our intelligence.

The "ill-informed, small and negative minority" is, as far as I can see, a well-informed large and very angry majority, mostly silent like myself until provoked beyond endurance.

Contrary to your or Tesco's assertions, it is indeed possible to develop the site without large infill.

I recall one such idea was outlined in the local press a while back, and I can certainly visualise other imaginative developments which would use the site characteristics to give Seaton a world class estuary scheme to compare with the Eden project.

This isn't fantasy, it's precisely what good planners, engineers and architects are paid for.

If Tesco and EDDC can't do this, our councillors should have the courage to demand that Seaton's future is passed to someone who can.

Even Sainsburys produced a less horrible looking box which fitted the small scale Seaton environs much better.

As for land ownership giving Tesco 'the only game in town', we can count ourselves lucky that with Stephanie and Jim representing us, it wasn't bought by British Nuclear Fuels.

EDDC should listen to town

EDITOR — Why do we have a town council?

The clue should be in the word town. Our town, Axminster.

They know best what we need and want. Are they listened to? No. EDDC has decided that it knows what is best for us.

Yes, we do need affordable housing for our young people. But not at the expense of our last bit of green field.

We have sites in the town that desperately need developing. What is more important is that we accept that the preferred option should be a housing scheme that will provide the houses and give us the relief road as well.

How many times a day do any members of the EDDC planning committee drive through Axminster town centre? Or, the side streets? Those of us who know the short cuts use them. In the process we clog up the side roads too.

On television this morning — October 6th — the government has said that it wants to give more power to local people so that they can decide how their towns are developed. Bring it on. The quicker the better.

Surely the word consultation implies that there are options to discuss? The result of the Local Development Framework consultation period should be disregarded until we, the people of Axminster, have been given more than one option.

Name and address supplied

Residents should vote on housing plans

EDITOR — What has Mr Symes got to gain from the development of Cloakham Lawns site (front page of Pulman's View from Axminster, October 12th edition)?

It seems that it is a damn shame that he would put his name to helping the town to more gridlock and more traffic in a town which can't cope at the best of times.

Yes this town is in need of housing and a bypass but we have to put the town first.

I think that a partial build of the site would be better.

Perhaps the other developers could build behind the Millway Rise estate and we might get the bypass as well.

I am not in favour of Axminster Carpets at all.

I believe that this town has been held back by the company and I think that we have again been held to ransom over a few quid to keep the town quiet.

Mr Symes has stated that the company has helped the town. Well I can't see anything that doesn't benefit them.

I am so disappointed in Mr Symes. I had held him in very high regard but I am not so sure now.

One last thing to say, I think that the town should have a vote on what houses are built and not leave the planning to people that don't even live in the area.

Michael A Featherstone
Address supplied

Tory majority shows British democracy

EDITOR — In response to Tony Simpson's attack on me and the LibDem role in government it appears he places little value on democracy.

The fact is that the Conservatives gained more votes and seats than anyone else in the general election, and that gives them the right to shape the majority of government policies, whether I like it or not.

The Liberal Democrats joined the coalition to implement as many of our manifesto commitments as we can, to temper the excesses of single party rule, sadly familiar to east Devon residents, and to give our country the stability it needs to rebuild its economy and protect its environment.

As long term supporters of parties working together it would have been childish of us not to do so when the circumstances actually arose because we cannot get everything we want.

In my opinion no party should get everything it wants — you know what they say about power.

As far as cuts are concerned everything I said and wrote during the campaign was absolutely honest on the issue — perhaps too honest.

If we are to avoid the cuts of 25 per cent and more in incomes, benefits and pensions that have occurred in countries whose governments have gone bust we have to start living within our means right now.

Racking up enormous debts is what got Britain into the present mess and making them bigger will not get us out. For Labour and their supporters to pretend otherwise is perhaps the reason they lost the election and remain irrelevant in east Devon.

Until our voting system changes any votes cast for Labour will only help to prolong Conservative rule in our part of the world.

Thanks for the tour support

EDITOR — It is just over a month since The Great Tour completed its circumnavigation of the UK coastline by bicycle and returned to Seaton, a day that I will long remember after 64 days in the saddle without a day off.

It was an extraordinary experience and journey for me, not just for the constant change of our outstandingly beautiful coastline, but also for the wonderful demonstration of kindness shown by so many people along the way.

I felt immensely proud to live in Seaton and so grateful for the support that has been shown to myself and the riders of The Great Tour.

With so many people and groups to thank, I think it is best for me to offer a "thank you" to all of the people of Seaton and the surrounding area.

The tour was not only a success as a physical sporting challenge but has raised in the region of £100,000 for the the Prostate Cancer Charity and Caravan, the National Grocers' Benevolent Fund.

Finally, I can confirm that The Great Tour will again start in Seaton during 2011. It will depart on Saturday 2nd July and return on Saturday 3rd September, one for the diary!

View from the churches

With Nigel
Speller

THE Government has announced that from January 4th 2011 claims will not be admitted for work on clocks, pews, bells, organs, and professional fees will be excluded.

So the message is to get claims for the current entitlement in by the end of December 2010. And watch out for further changes to the scheme effective in March 2011.

Advance information for Anglican churches about statutory fees to be charged for weddings and funerals from January 2011 has also been announced this week. Parishes are allowed to add their own charge for use of the organ and heating.

More information across Devon — the Diocese of Exeter Year Book for 2010/2011 has just been published and is obtainable from the Old Deanery.

The publication runs to over 300 pages and gives details of parish churches across Devon.

Churches of all denominations can take advantage of materials being made available by various missionary and similar organisations such as the Bible Reading Fellowship which will assist with items for bible Sunday — October 24th and encourage compassion this Christmas.

The Children's Society once again offers free information to help churches arrange their christingle services — see www.christingle.org.

The Diocesan Synod of Exeter Diocese met recently and had before it the diocesan accounts for the past year which happily turned out better than expected as a result of planned economies. Nevertheless, there was still a shortfall in contributions from parishes and synod members were reminded that their clergy had to be paid, and if new vocations were to be sought there is a bill to be met.

Advance notice was given that next year's Diocesan Synod would have before it proposals about women bishops, deaneries and parishes and that there needs to be discussions and voting before the Diocesan Synod meets.

Club looks into the world of puddings

MEMBERS of Yarcombe Tuesday Club were treated to a fascinating insight on puddings, researched by Mary Izzard.

It would appear that puddings were originally made from meat and savoury ingredients.

Chocolate is known to have been used for centuries even BC, together with vanilla.

Sweet puddings made from raisins, dried fruit and bread and mincemeat were introduced gradually and custard appeared in the 14th Century.

The first trifles and fools are recorded in 1598. Many of today's regular offerings were invented in America — it is interesting to note that it is Pudding Day on November 9th.

Several members had prepared delicious desserts which were sampled with glee and recipes were available for those who wanted to try them out for themselves.

Joan Ewins had prepared a Delectable Desserts Quiz which was won by Mary Smith and Pat Bright.

Founding members celebrate

THE 40th anniversary meeting of Hawkchurch Ladies Club was celebrated in the village hall on September 7th.

Hawkchurch Women's Institute was founded in September 1970 with about 40 members and flourished for many years before numbers dwindled and the club folded in 1993.

But it was restarted in January 1994 as Hawkchurch Ladies Club and currently boasts 24 members.

Past and present members attended the celebration, which was concluded with a game of Room 101. One of the founding members, Marguerite Searle, said: "It was an amazing celebration."

Potential members are welcome to call Mrs Searle on 01297 678362 for more information.

Group meets for a review

ALL Saints and District Women's Institute met on October 5th for the annual meeting to review the last year, remembering the many stimulating talks ranging from educational, personal interest, to great humour; and also the many recreational and social events enjoyed throughout the year.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, November 2nd at 2.30pm in All Saints Village Hall.

This looks like being a unique and interesting talk by Tom Coleman entitled St Kilda — Island on the Edge of the World.

Harvest fun for farmers

AXMINSTER Young Farmers' Club held its annual harvest supper at the Tuckers Arms in Dalwood on October 1st.

The evening was well supported by previous members, current members and family.

The young farmers would like to say a big thank you to the Tuckers Arms for supplying a lovely meal.

The evening also consisted of the annual cup presentation, annual meeting and the changing of chairman.

Phillip Bird was chosen as new chairman.

A CHARITY quiz night is set to be held at The Vault Bar on Seaton seafront.

The event will take place on Thursday, October 21st, from 7.30pm and staff at the pub are hoping as many people as possible will turn out in support.

More than 80 pubs and clubs throughout Devon will be taking part in the quiz organised by Rotary International, it is hoped the event will raise more than £2,000 for Rotary International charities.

Deb East, manageress at the Seaton pub, said: "This is the first time a pub in Seaton has taken part in the event and we want as many people as possible to come along."

"Each pub taking part enters one big team with as many members as it can recruit and there is a prize for the pub with the largest team."

"It should be a really good night and I'm sure we will have a few laughs."

The winning pub will be announced on the night and will receive a £200 cheque to donate to a charity of its choice. Entry costs £3 per person and the quiz will be hosted by a Rotary quizmaster.

Gift of food

GIFTS of produce were offered during assembly at St Mary's Primary School in Axminster on Friday, October 1st.

The school staged its annual harvest festival that day and the gifts were donated to St. Petrock's Centre for the Homeless in Exeter.

The children also wore their own clothes, with donations going to the work of CAFOD in Pakistan, supporting flood victims.

CAFOD is the official Catholic aid agency for England and Wales.

A COFFEE morning was held on Saturday in Colyton Town Hall in aid of Guide Dogs for the Blind — and there was a special visitor.

Four-month-old guide dog trainee puppy Louis was there to welcome and thank everyone who attended the Colyton coffee morning event.

The event organised by the Colyton Supporters of Guide Dogs was a great success.

Julie Richens, of the local Axminster and District Fundraising branch said: "We realise these are lean times for everyone and so we really do appreciate the magnificent £520 that was made for the Guide Dogs for the Blind Association from the many stalls and raffles, not forgetting the cakes, coffees and teas."

"Jenny Male and her supporters have organised this annual event for many years, and we are very grateful and wish to thank them all."

"The funds will go towards helping partially sighted people to lead independent lives and train puppies such as Louis to become working guide dogs."

Flu jab offered to pregnant women

ALL pregnant women will be offered the seasonal flu vaccination this year to protect them from swine flu, according to NHS Devon.

The annual, seasonal flu campaign has been launched in Devon, urging people at risk of seasonal flu to get their free vaccination at their GP practice.

Everyone aged 65 and over is routinely offered the vaccination, as those with long-term conditions such as heart disease, diabetes, asthma, multiple sclerosis and serious kidney or liver disease.

But this is the first year that all pregnant women are included in this group.

An NHS spokesperson said: "It will protect them against the H1N1 virus (swine flu) that will still be circulating this winter."

"Pregnant women who catch this strain are at an increased risk of severe disease and flu-related hospital admissions."

Jackie Morse, NHS Devon's head of health protection, added: "The seasonal flu vaccination has saved the lives of many elderly and vulnerable people over the years."

"So if you are in one of the at-risk groups I would strongly advise you contact your GP for a free vaccination as soon as possible."

country scene

Written by countryside correspondent

TONY JACKSON

Still in throes of late summer

MY recent note concerning a mass movement of house martins, which I witnessed early one morning a fortnight or more ago, has prompted a reader, David Manley, to drop me a line.

Like me, he also watched a steady flow of house martins in separate groups of around a score or so but this was, in fact, three years ago and the birds then left on October 2nd, to fly north-east up the Otter Valley.

The martins I watched were also heading north or north-east and I can only assume they were heading to a mass assembly point before departing for southern climes.

The nights and early mornings have been cold, despite the golden sunshine of our Indian summer, and I suspect that all swallows and martins have now left us, save for a few stragglers which may not make it to their warm winter quarters.

In fact, it is quite possible that I will meet up with some of our swallows, for I shall shortly be in the Northern Cape Province of South Africa, to spend a few days in the region known as the Green Kalahari. This is a land of flat camel thorn-clad vistas, dotted with volcanic stone kopjes. The vaulting skies are vast, arching over horizons perhaps 50 miles away. The soil, or sand really, is red and when the first rains have fallen the dry, dusty landscape changes almost overnight to a vibrant green as leaves and grasses burst forth and bird life fills the bush.

This is, too, a country which was fought over extensively during the Boer War and close by is the battlefield of Magersfontein. Here the Boers, on December 11th 1899, heavily defeated the British forces under Lt Gen Lord Methuen and who were on their way to relieve Kimberley, close by.

Today the hill and the battlefield itself remain almost unchanged. The Highland Brigade advancing in the pre-dawn light to take the hill, failed to realise that the Boers had dug a trench immediately below it and, as the British advanced, the Boers opened fire with devastating effect. The Highland Brigade was pinned down and eventually, leaving the field littered with dead and dying, were forced to retreat. Today, there is a fine museum filled with artefacts picked up from the battlefield, as well as a brilliant audio-visual experience. There are also memorials to the Scottish dead and also to Scandinavians who fought alongside the Boers.

Back then to our own country scene. And as I write the sky is cloudless, the trees and hedgerows are tipped with gold and red and it is still a late summer scene, though I know that when I return from Africa it will be to a very different scenario. Yesterday my wife and I drove down to Chideock and then took the long winding lane that leads down to Seaton and The Anchor Inn.

Poised above the shingle beach and with glorious views of the swelling grassy cliffs and placid sea, the Inn was crowded with late holiday-makers enjoying the warm sun and the excellent hospitality and fare provided. After a splendid lunch of mussels and seafood we walked over to the beach to watch a small knot of miniature helicopter fliers send their craft whizzing and whirling above the waves.

Suddenly, a sickle-winged bird sped across the scene, heading for a grey cliff face. The immature peregrine, for such it was, darted out of sight and, I dare say, the hedge and field birds relaxed again.

I have just been reminded by Patricia Farrell, via Kimmo Evans of the east Devon AONB Partnership, that every year around about now, mining bees (Colletes hederarum) visit the cliffs at Beer to lay their eggs in the soft chalk. The bees arrive in large numbers to excavate holes and then, having deposited their eggs, disperse only to return in the spring to feed the newly hatched larvae with pollen. These bees are very docile and can be seen on the cliff next to the Fine Foundation Centre. Just thought you'd like to know.

It is our intention to go ahead as usual with this year's events with our Carnival procession on Saturday the 30th October followed by our Flaming Tar Barrels on Friday November the 5th.

Each year it becomes more difficult to find the money to cover the costs of running this event, our committee works tirelessly throughout the year to raise funds to cover the ever rising expenses. If you attend this year's event allocate £1 as a donation out of your booze or burger fund and make a point of putting it in one of our many collecting points. If everyone attending the event donated £1, which is not a lot of money to enable you to see one of the country's premier spectacles, our finances would become a lot healthier.

Making Life Flow Easier...

This year will see even more Marshalls at the barrel locations and they are there to assist in the smooth running of the event and this includes providing assistance to the public. Every year we have complaints from people who have either got in the way of a barrel or had cause to be frightened by the flames.

Believe it or not barrels and flames is what the evening is about so if you are not willing to confront the occasional flaming tar barrel stand well away from the area or better still stay at home but please do not complain to us about something you should have checked on before deciding to attend.

Finally we have moved the order of some of the barrels, mainly to try and ensure the free flow of spectators, our programme available on the night will have all the locations listed. If after all this you still decide to attend make sure you check our tag on safety and remember you are not there for our benefit, be safe.

Photography winner chosen in three hours

A JUDGING panel spent more than three hours to go through entries for Colyton Photography Competition 2010.

A list of winners was produced for the various categories after judges had assessed more than 200 photographs.

A selection of entries can be viewed by members of the public at a special event on Saturday, October 16th at The Studio, Market Place, from 5pm-7pm.

The competition ran over the summer months and Richard Nash, of The Studio, said: "A panel of judges met for more than three hours on Thursday October 7th to determine the worthy winners.

"The choice was not easy as there was a huge range of quality pictures covering a range of subjects and places, though the majority focussed on the beauties of Colyton and the surrounding area."

The event was sponsored by Colyton and District Business Association, and those unable to make the special event can view the photos during The Studio's opening hours until the end of October — or alternatively online at web.me.com/richardnash80/Studio-Colyton/Welcome.html.

The Studio is open from 10am to 4pm Tuesdays to Saturdays, and the list of winners and runners-up is as follows.

◆ EMMA Warren

Student scoops top prize for her poetry

A YEAR 13 Colyton Grammar School student has scooped a top prize in a national poetry competition.

Emma Warren, has proved herself to be a wizard with words winning a place in the commended category of the Foyle's Poetry Competition.

The competition is held annually and this year received more than 20,000 entries from all over the country, of which 15 received the Foyle Young Poets of the Year award and 85 were commended.

On Thursday last, Emma travelled to London to attend National Poetry Day at the Royal Festival Hall as part of her prize. During her trip she met famous names from the world of poetry and collected her award.

Emma said that her poem called 'Biscuits' was an attempt to write about something in a funny way.

She said: "I wanted to write about something real in an amusing way.

"I'm very pleased the judges thought it was successful."

We have been installing solar panels to heat hot water in a number of properties of varying sizes in the East Devon area, there are grants available and all labour and materials are charged at 5% vat. Tickets for comedy man still available

TICKETS are still available to see the star of 8 out of 10 Cats, Jason Manford, at Plymouth Pavillion this Friday, October 22nd and Saturday, October 23rd.

Jason Manford was born on May 26th 1981 in Salford, Lancashire, he is an English writer, comedian, actor, radio and television presenter of Irish descent.

He began his career in 1999, while working at the Buzz Comedy Club upstairs at the Southern Hotel in Chorlton, Manchester. Jason was collecting glasses when a performer didn't arrive for an evening set, Jason, who was 17 at the time stepped in to fill the gap, an event which marked the beginning of his comedy career. Six gigs later he was crowned The City Life North West Comedian of the Year.

After winning several smaller awards, Jason was nominated for the Perrier Award in Edinburgh in 2005 for his show Urban Legends, a stand up show about those stories that always seem to happen to a friend of a friend. Jason did the comedy clubs of the UK, including the Comedy Store and Jongleurs and did many gigs abroad as far a field as Dubai, Abu Dhabi, Singapore and China.

His first major television appearance was when he was a guest on the Channel 4 panel show, 8 out of 10 cats, presented by Jimmy Carr.

Jason has performed stand up on television, including Edinburgh and Beyond and The World Stands Up on the Paramount Channel and Comedy Shuffle on BBC 3.

The most high profile of these appearances was when he did a half spot on Live at the Apollo on BBC 1 in November 2007, alongside Jack Dee and Russell Howard.

A year later he did the full show and was introduced by fellow 8 out of 10 Cats team captain, Sean Lock.

In August 2008 Jason embarked on a new show called Tonightly. It was a mix of topical jokes written about the day's news, character sketches and guests including Ken Livingstone and Danny Wallace.

Jason's latest DVD was released back in November using footage filmed at the Manchester Apollo.

This performance is not suitable for under 14s. Tickets cost £20 and are available by calling the box office on 0845 146 1460 or alternatively visit www.plymouthpavilions.com.

COMPETITION

Ghoulish chance to win tickets

NO pumpkin is safe from the knife of Puffins at Beer pre-school according to leader Julie Weber.

Julie has been charged with designing the ghoulish faces on the pumpkins that will haunt the disco at The Dolphin on Saturday, October 30th — and Pulman's View readers can win tickets for the event.

Everyone loves a good party and good music, so Puffins at Beer decided it was time to team up with The Dolphin in Beer and put on a monster mash Hallowe'en bash that will include live music and a disco.

One of the organisers from Puffins at Beer, Kate Kennerson, said: "We're putting on this party as a fundraising event. As a charity, we rely on fundraising."

Tickets cost £6 and are available from The Dolphin, Beer Post Office and Puffins at Beer.

However, organisers have joined up with Pulman's View to give away a total of six tickets.

To be in with a chance of winning a ticket all you have to do is answer this question:

Q. What date does Hallowe'en fall on every year?

Submit your answer to Hallowe'en competition, Pulman's View, Tindle House, South Street, Axminster EX13 5AD.

Your entry must include your name, address and telephone number and reach us no later than Monday, October 25th 2010. More information about the event and the pre-school in general is available by calling 01297 20403.

■ Terms and conditions: Only one of ticket can be won per person. Tickets cannot be exchanged or refunded. The editor's decision is final.

Weekly yoga

RESIDENTS of Feniton are being given the chance to try yoga — completely free of charge — from this week.

Leisure East Devon, in collaboration with the Active Villages programme, offer residents from the village and neighbouring communities the opportunity to take part in yoga sessions for free on a weekly basis.

People of all ages, abilities and sexes are invited to attend the first session this Friday, October 22nd at the main hall of Feniton Primary School from 5.30pm to 7pm. No booking is necessary, just turn up and give yoga a go.

The programme, managed by Leisure East Devon's outreach manager Mike Anderton, will enable residents to experience new leisure and sports opportunities without the hassle of having to travel to towns and built up areas. Mike Anderton believes that the project will benefit everyone within the village. For more information visit www.activevillages.co.uk.

◆ THE Lawson Trio

Trio perform Concerts in the West for season finale

CONCERTS in the West closes its 2010 season with a concert of the great classics performed by the Lawson Trio.

The trio comprises Fenella Humphreys, violin, Rebecca Knight, cello, and Annabelle Lawson, piano.

They came together at Cambridge in 2000 and have been described by Martin Lovett of the Amadeus Quartet as "truly excellent players."

Now the Concordia Foundation has chosen them as 2010 Young Artists and Making Music has selected them for inclusion in its Concert Promoters' Network 2011/12 Guide.

On top of this they have been invited by Aldeburgh to be the first piano trio to have a residency on what has previously been a String Quartet Residency programme.

The trio has a strong commitment to encouraging younger musicians and audiences, working with the Schubert Ensemble giving masterclasses and workshops in schools across the UK.

This has culminated this year in concerts at the South Bank and Steinway Halls and a gala concert celebrating 10 years of Chamber Music 2000 at the Purcell Room.

Fenella Humphreys was a 2006 Park Lane Group Young artist and received Making Music's 2005 Philip and Dorothy Green Award for Young Concert Artists, and gave a recital at the Wigmore Hall as finalist in the YCAT competition.

This year she has given concerto and recital performances at prestigious venues including London's South Bank Centre.

Annabelle Lawson, soloist, chamber musician, accompanist and workshop leader, was awarded a place as solo pianist on the Live Music Now! Scheme this summer.

She has recently given solo and chamber recitals in the Purcell Room and St. James' Piccadilly.

Rebecca Knight has given recitals in the LSO Discovery Series, the IMAI Festival Maine, USA, the Paxos International Festival, Oxford Lieder Festival, and has attended masterclasses at Prussia Cove.

She has given the European premiere of chamber works by Chen Yi in the BBC Proms, and appeared at the Wigmore Hall with the Guildhall New Music Ensemble.

The programme is traditional, consisting of Mendelssohn's Trio No 1 in D minor, Liszt's Tristia, La Vallée d'Obermann, Schubert's Notturmo D897 and Schumann's Trio No 3 in G minor.

The concerts will take place as follows:

Thursday, October 21st at 7.15pm at Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis, Dorset. Tickets are £10 from the box office, 01297 442138, or on the door.

Friday, October 22nd at 7.30pm in Ilminster Arts Centre at the Meeting House, Somerset. Tickets are £12 from the box office, 01460 54973, or on the door if still available.

Saturday, October 23rd at 7.30pm at Hatherleigh Community Centre, Devon. Tickets are £10 from the Salar Gallery, 01837 810940, and on the door.

For more information on the Concert in the West programme or to find out more about the Lawson Trio visit www.concertsinthewest.org or www.lawsontrio.com respectively.

HONITON GOLF CLUB

Ryder Cup

IT was a huge team effort where every player contributed something to the victory but it couldn't have happened without the efforts of those off the course as well.

Honiton was pleased to have one of their own, Dave Morgan, acting as a marshall throughout the competition and he was lucky enough to be on hand when the winning putt went in.

Dave had been assigned the 7th green on the Monday so after the last pairing of Hunter Mahan and Greame McDowell cleared his green he was able to follow their progress right to the 17th where he watched as the cup winning putt went in.

Always a modest man Dave will happily recount to members his part in our victory.

Carnival Stableford

Players from the Saturday Circus had organised the annual charitable game for Honiton Carnival. Played as a 3BBB Stableford, two scores to count, the teams played in the sunshine with their own Carnival atmosphere. Scoring was high but the winning team of D McCabe, F McCabe and J Tierney notched a massive 82 points.

Close second were R Willey, D Noar and J Drew with 81 points with M Matthews, R Smith and P Vaughan third with 73 points. The Club were able to hand over a cheque of £150 to the Carnival Queen's Charity for their efforts.

Mixed Section

This weeks Greensomes Stableford was played with three clubs and a putter. Almost as soon as you start the game you wish you had selected different clubs.

However, some players selection was correct as the winning pair with 33 points were Hilda Hoepelman and Max Pipe. Second place was Celia Hamlett and John Dickinson with 31 points. Third place went to ladies' vice captain Sue Ritchie and John Northover 30 points on countback.

Ladies Section

This week a full field played in teams for the annual match between the ladies' captain and ladies' vice captain.

Elizabeth's team were attired in green and Sue's team were in red.

Format 4BBB Match Play shot gun start. The results were very close with Elizabeth's team the victors.

Sue then presented the trophy to Elizabeth with her congratulations.

Senior Section

A shortened Stableford was played last Friday. This was to accommodate the seniors' annual meeting and allow the elderly golfers to get home in time for their customary afternoon nap.

Bill Nicholls was elected captain for the forthcoming season with John Discombe as his vice captain.

Outgoing captain, Ben Laite, reported on his year — the highlight of which was the recapture of the Stan Parker Trophy from Exeter.

Ben was presented with a new golf bag in thanks for his sterling work. Also calling it a day was treasurer Ken Beake who had diligently prepared the section accounts for the past nine years. In recognition of his dedication he was presented with a liquid gift and the introduction of a new Ken Beake Trophy to be presented to the winner of the eclectic competitions.

Oh, and the golf, Bill Phillips was first starting on the first tee with 23 points and Peter Bates was equally proficient with 23 points starting on the 11th tee.

AXE CLIFF GOLF CLUB

Seniors' and Ladies' Section

AFTER the home defeat earlier in the week by Libbaton Seniors, the Axe Cliff team bounced back a few days later with an overwhelming victory by 6 x 1 over Cheddington.

This also avenged a heavy reversal in May at Cheddington but rounded off the inter-club season in style.

Winning pairings for Axe Cliff included Gilbert Cox and John Mant; Bryan Dale and Morrison Brown; Terry Jessup and Hugh Willis; Jack Bannister and Iain Bain; Rob Grove and Alan Vincent and Mike Tomes and Bob Flay.

Terry Jessup also won the bottle of wine for nearest pin at the 11th.

Ladies' Section

On an extremely windy but sunny Monday morning the ladies and seniors fought for the annual Tic Toc Trophy.

The match was halved so the ladies retain the trophy for another year.

Winning players for the ladies were Mary Gippis; Pauline Standerwick with Barbara Cummings and Alison Cook halving their match.

Last Wednesday the ladies played a Stableford — First Division which was won by Helen Gaudie (25). Division Two was won by Di Rogers (30).

Main Club

The main club competed on Sunday for the Terrace Cup which has the tough format of Bowmaker Medal.

Winners with a 10 under par total of 128 were Paul Clode, Steve Anning and captain Richard Gibbons. Second place were David Quinn, Jerry Russell and Alan Cooper who also scored 128 but lost out on countback.

AXE VALE PONY CLUB HUNTER TRIAL

Astounding entries from novices to medal winners

EVEN with perfect conditions the organisers of this year's Axe Vale Pony Club Hunter Trial were astounded at the high level of entries for the equestrian event — with a gold medalist competing to boot.

Held at Lovehayne Farm, Southleigh, on Sunday, October 10th, the hunter trial attracted all levels of riders including Mary King, who recently brought home a gold medal from the World Equestrian Games.

The event offered a short junior course as well as the main 25-fence course which were divided into different height classes.

Over 130 horse and rider combinations were entered on the day, which far exceeded expectations.

Axe Vale Pony Club member Georgie Selley took top spot in the first class on George and local duo Ali Holder and Debbie Williams came first in the pairs class.

Axe Vale Pony Club district commissioner Anne Roberts said: "The conditions were perfect, but even so we couldn't believe the level of entries we received, we even had to make new numbers for competitors as we ran out.

"People travelled from as far away as Woolacombe and Newton Abbot to take part. Everyone had a lovely day, and there was something for everyone from little lead reins, to World Equestrian Games gold medalist Mary King who rode the course.

"A big thank you must go to The Axe Vale Hunt who built the course and Mr and Mrs Bignell for letting us use their land. We had an extremely successful day and hope to return next year."

FOOTBALL EXPRESS CUP — AXMOUTH UTD

ON paper Axmouth looked to have a tough draw in the Football Express Cup against high-flying Division Five table toppers Dolphin who can boast a 100 per cent record in all competitions.

Coming off a poor performance last week Axmouth did have the knowledge of already despatching a division five side in the previous round and despite ultimately losing this one they gave Dolphin a real stern test.

In a very tight and evenly contested first half there were very few chances as both defences stood firm and the two sides looked to play good football to create an opening. It was the away side that broke the deadlock on 20 minutes with a neat passing move and finish from just inside the box to go one up.

The home side pressed hard and thought they had got a deserved equaliser when Charlie Clarke headed home a fine cross only to find the linesman flagged for offside in what was a marginal decision.

Both sides continued to battle but the first half ended with Dolphin one up.

The second half saw Axmouth continue to press and a Christian Burridge header from a corner looked set to level the game only for a defender to clear off the line. Another fine header this time from Mike Challis again beat the keeper but this time the bar saved Dolphin and a hatrick of near misses was completed when Clarke deflected an off target shot with his head only to see it come back off a post.

The second goal always looked like being crucial and the away team got it when Axmouth were pressing hard and an attack broke down in the opposing area leaving the home defence exposed to a quick break and good finish to see them go 0-2 down in the 75th minute.

It was a bitter blow made worse two minutes later when a cross into the box saw home keeper Andrew Smart collide with his own player and the ball loop kindly onto the head of a striker to easily nod in the third.

Despite the scoreline there was very little between the two sides and for much of the game the result was in the balance. Dolphin certainly knew they had a real fright and admitted this was probably the hardest test they have faced this season.

I was really proud of all the lads today they really gave it everything and with better luck could easily have got a result. This was a return to their previous form and excellent performances all round but especially Challis, Sweetland and the magnificent Burridge who edged man if the match.

PERRY STREET LEAGUE ROUND-UP

Rise retain their unbeaten results

By KEVIN FAHEY

MILLWEY Rise extended their unbeaten start to the season with a 6-1 thrashing of Ilminster Colts.

Marc Jenkins struck twice and there were also goals from Sam Dibling, player-manager Shane Featherstone, Danny Larcombe and a rare contribution from Paul Otreba as the Axminster-based outfit maintain the pressure on leaders Winsham at the top of Division One.

"I think we are unbeaten in the league for 26 games now," said club secretary Jason Farrant.

Winsham kept their grip on top spot despite a tense finish when Thorncombe pegged them back having made it 3-2.

"We were under the cosh for the last 15 minutes and it was a bit nervy," said Winsham manager Phil Loaring.

Goals from Tom Stead and John Simmons put Winsham in control at half time and while Thorncombe pegged one back in the 55th minute John Poole restored the two-goal advantage until the home side staged a late comeback.

"There are some good teams in Division One and I'm happy to be top at the moment," added Loaring.

In the Premier Division South Petherton made it six wins out of six with a 3-0 win over Merriott Rovers and strengthened their lead at the top.

"It is still early in the season so we are not getting carried away," said club secretary Ray Cooper.

Man-of-the-match Timmy John put South Petherton into the lead after 25 minutes and numerous chances were wasted, including a second half penalty from John Hayter, before Dean Smith and Danny Rendell wrapped up the points.

Beamminster Reserves have made an equally good start to the season and Ross Pickett was their star man in Saturday's 6-1 thrashing of Crewkerne Reserves, scoring four goals, to put them top of Division Two with five wins and a draw.

Sadly in the second round of the Coronation Cup Beamminster's first team bowed out in a 4-2 setback after extra time against Ilminster Reserves. Reigning champions Lyme Regis kept alive their hopes of retaining the cup with a narrow 2-1 win against Combe St Nicholas Reserves with goals from Jason Hawker and Adam Caddy.

Also through to the semi-finals is Farway United with James Salter scoring the only goal in the narrow win against West and Middle Chinnock.

The final team in the semi-finals is Perry Street with Danny Wiseman firing the injury time winner in the 2-1 win over Barrington.

A big crowd is expected on Sunday for the local derby at Sector Lane between Axminster Town and Millway Rise in the Axminster Hospital Charity Cup.

The two teams may be in different leagues but with the Town having suffered a poor start to the season and still seeking their first win of the season in the South West Peninsula League Millway Rise fans may sniff an upset.

"It is a really big game for the town and there is sure to be a big crowd," said Millway Rise secretary Jason Farrant. The game kicks off at 2pm.

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE — COLYTON TOWN FC

Bill Slee Cup 2nd Rd
Colyton 3
Sidmouth Town Reserves 1

COLYTON earned a quarterfinal berth with an excellent result against a Sidmouth Town Reserves side most pundits had earmarked as potential cup winners.

It was a well-deserved victory although Sidmouth did have the better of the first period, but it was Colyton who seized the early initiative, raiding down both flanks and delivering a series of dangerous crosses into the box. It was definitely not all one way traffic as Sidmouth's very direct tactics pushed the Coly defence into extremely deep positions.

Colyton took the lead on 15 minutes after Callum Somers was deliberately barged to the floor. The referee awarded a free kick in a very inviting position. Coly's dead ball specialist Mike Cullum stepped and delivered a superb ball into the area in behind the Sidmouth defence.

Richard Tratt met the ball perfectly to lash home for a fine finish down the edge of the six-yard area.

Colyton's lead only lasted two minutes as Sidmouth capitalised on a horror kick from midfielder Jason Potter. His miscued clearance landed at the feet of the attacking Sidmouth player who quickly ran clear to play in his team mate who had the simplest of tasks to knock the ball home past keeper Kris Reid. Just when we needed to settle down a bit, we let them back into the game.

Sidmouth upped their game and put us under sustained pressure for the remainder of the half. Coly were chasing shadows and the half time whistle could not come fast enough.

The first half failed to live up to the lightning quick start, but the second period did not disappoint. Just three minutes after the restart Gary Sims – Colyton's outstanding performer of the match – weaved his magic down the right flank before sliding an inviting ball across the face of the six yard area into the path of Tratt, who took the ball in his stride to smash the ball home past a helpless keeper.

There was only won winner from this point forward as Coly took a firm grip on proceedings, playing in a very positive and upbeat manner. The final goal arrived on 66 minutes, skipper Paul Millman released top scorer Somers and he showed a great turn of speed to outpace the Sidmouth rearguard before sliding the ball past the advancing keeper to seal a very impressive performance and victory.

DEVON & EXETER LEAGUE ROUND-UP

ALPHINGTON won 3-0 at Beer Albion after extra time. There was little in the tie until then but Beer cracked under the strain in the added 30 minutes with the Alphas Sean Densham getting a hat-trick to steal the show. Alphas manager Russell Newcombe was also delighted as he had to play in goal and kept a clean sheet.

Barnstaple Town moved into the top three in Division One but they had to work hard to beat Honiton Town 3-1.

The match turned when Honiton had keeper Mark Robson sent off, and from the penalty Barum manager Keith Shapland scored. Ross Jones and Lewis Murrell then added more goals before Sam Farmer grabbed a late consolation for the visitors.

Halwill gained revenge for a recent defeat at Feniton winning 2-1.

Andy Wonnacott and Adam Bewes with a late decider won it for Halwill.

Culm Utd were 4-1 winners at home to Chard Town with Brad Newberry getting two of the goals.

NEW FATHER SCORES THE LATE WINNER

By KEVIN FAHEY

Hawkechurch Utd 2
South Petherton Reserves 3

NEW father Ashley Smith celebrated the birth of daughter Paula in style with the later winner in this Perry Street League Division Two match.

"Ashley's wife had only given birth the night before so it was great that he scored the winner and all the lads rushed to the corner flag to do the rocking the baby celebrations," said club secretary Ray Cooper.

The late winner was a relief to manager Barry Kench after his side had dominated the first half but had failed to turn numerous chances into goals.

Andy Guppy's strike was the only difference at half time with Hawkechurch goalkeeper Ashley Raison having made a great penalty save.

"We were lucky to be only one goal down at half time," said Hawkechurch boss Nigel Harding. "We should have been dead and buried because we were pants and just didn't turn up."

It was a different story after the interval as a rejuvenated Hawkechurch turned the game on its head. Central midfielder Glenn Harding equalised after good work by Bobby Langford and then Harding struck again to put the home side in front.

"I'm not sure whether we dropped off our game or they stepped it up but they scored two late goals to win it," added Harding.

Richard Chapman equalised in the 75th minute to leave the way clear for Smith to grab the headlines with his winner in the closing stages as he lobbed Raison.

"It was disappointing to give the lead away like that but at the moment we are our own worst enemies," groaned Harding.

"I have told the players that no-one will give them anything in this division and they have to earn it."
